

The Journey Home

The Journey Home is a program that helps young aboriginal people and their families out of the justice system. The program strengthens wellbeing and positive cultural identity.

The Journey Home aims to...

- Improve the social and emotional wellbeing of young aboriginal people and their families
- Reduce the risk of young people being involved in the justice system for a long time
- Create pathways out of the justice system
- Strengthen connections to culture

The Journey Home team provides lots of different services to Aboriginal young people like...

- Helping link young people with local support services
- Connecting young people and families with their communities
- Helping young people work through problems with the justice system
- Running groups for young men called 'Our Journey to Respect'
- Working with young women in the 'Respect 2 Sista Girls' program
